

Replacing the original fabric folder options in V7

There are 4 fabric files available in our software program, each featuring a variety of Benartex fabrics.

Benartex
Benartex 2004
Benartex 2006
Benartex 2013

Sometimes, through the original update process, service pack updates, or perhaps the phase of the moon it seems that one or more of the folders goes missing. Here's how to get them back.

Download the fabric file that is missing to your computer. These files all have a file extension of .FLB.

These files are too large to upload to our V7 Yahoo Group site, so until they are made available by Bernina, I have permission to provide them. They can be found here:

Place the file into this location: C > Program Files (X86) > Common Files > Wilcom > Fabrics

You can do this by downloading the file directly to this location or by dragging it and placing it into this location (or using copy/paste) after it has been downloaded elsewhere on your computer.

The next time you open your V7 software program, you should have all 4 fabric folders to select from in the Quilter program as well as if you would like to show fabric in your applique.
